

Wonder of wood

Give your home the quality finishing touches it deserves with beautiful wooden windows and enjoy the benefits inside and out

There are few things that influence the appearance of a property more than its windows. Not only are they a major factor in the impression it makes from the outside, but they also play a crucial role in the way a house looks and feels on the inside. This is certainly the experience of Nina Jex who recently remodelled her Surrey home: "Our designer, Alexandra Hull of Back to Front Exterior Design, described windows as 'the eyes of a building' and recommended we source ours from a member of The Wood Window Alliance as it was so important to get the quality as well as the look right. We were replacing all the doors and windows and liked the fact that while wooden options felt reassuringly traditional, they also offered clean and contemporary styles that fitted perfectly with our modern rustic design scheme. They came ready sprayed in the colour of our choice and can easily be repainted for a new look. Plus, they are eco-friendly as all the timber is FSC-certified." Today's wooden windows are energy-efficient, low-maintenance, long-lasting and bring a sophisticated finishing touch to a building. They are available in designs to suit every style and period, double or triple-glazed, so whether renovating or creating your dream property from scratch, they are the natural choice to give pleasure for years to come.
